

Namgyalgar Accommodation

DORMITORY

There is a small dormitory with comfortable beds in a room attached to the meditation hall which is a solid mud brick building with solar power.

There is also a large tent dormitory (a solid wooden frame covered with strong canvasses, without electricity) with comfortable beds & mossie nets in it.

Some bed linen and pillows are provided and some blankets are available.

If you are coming by car please bring your own bed linen and doona / blankets.

If you are travelling by plane or bus please bring your own warm sleeping bag if it is possible and if not then please advise the secretary so she can inform the Geko you will need blankets. Please note: If you are a heavy snorer you will need to consider other accomm options (tent, c'van or offland rental accomm).

CAMPING

There are ample tentsites of varying sizes available in a primitive camping ground in close proximity to the meditation hall, showers and toilets. It is possible to park your car near some tentsites but not with all sites. To camp it is necessary to bring your own tent, mattress, bedding etc. Please check with the secretary regarding what size sites there are. There is no solar power in the camping ground and therefore it is necessary to bring a good torch. Open fires, gas cookers and candles etc are not permitted in the camping ground due to high fire risk.

CARAVANS

There are a number of caravans for rent at the Gar, however their availability is dependent upon whether they are occupied by Gar residents or owners of the caravans. Some caravans have gas appliances and some do not.

There is not solar power available in the caravans, gas lights are available in some vans but not all. Retreatants are required to bring their own bed linen / doonas / blankets for use in the caravans. If you are unable to do so ( eg if travelling by bus or plane etc) the Geko (caretaker) will help provide these.

Campervans

If you have a campervan you wish to tow to the Gar for temporary use during a retreat, please ask the secretary if this will be possible and if a suitable site is available or not. ( Large, flat sites are limited). If permission is granted to bring a campervan it must be removed after the event and cannot be left on the Gar.
